The 2022 class members include:

Lennox Lewis, Julio César Chávez, James Toney, Frank Fletcher

Dave Tiberi, Chuck Mussachio, Kathy Collins-Globuschutz, Kathy Duva, Pat Lynch, Kevin Rooney Sr., Lynne Carter, Randy Neumann, Dr. Domenic Coletta, Tom Casino, and posthumously: James Broad, Eddie Aliano, and Harold Lederman.

"I was excited to fight at the then-new Trump Taj Mahal on the undercard of Thomas Hearn and Michael Olajide. I was so pumped I went out and stopped my opponent Jose Luis Estevan in the 5th round who was the local favorite. The crowd was great, and I remember walking through the crowd and giving them high fives on the way out. It was my first great experience fighting in a historic city of legendary fights." – James Toney

"My Atlantic City boxing experience was like no other. The lights, glitter, and fan base enthusiasm always brought my game to a new level," said Dave Tiberi

"The Atlantic City Boxing Hall of Fame family is super excited to celebrate the newest members of the Hall of Fame. We can't wait to have boxing enthusiasts both far and near relive some of their greatest memories of Atlantic City's legendary fights and fighters. And there's no better place to celebrate this year's class than right here at Hard Rock Hotel & Casino Atlantic City a global entertainment brand." – Ray McCline, ACBHOF President

With Darryl Hall & John Oates performing on Friday, October 7th, and Wanda Sykes on Saturday, October 8th the Hard Rock Hotel & Casino Atlantic City will surely be the place to be during Induction Weekend. Stay tuned for big announcements coming soon!
