Global Sports Streaming Launches Pay Per View Service with Best in Boxing

Las Vegas, Nevada– (August 31, 2020) – This coming September, Global Sports Streaming (GSS) will be launching a state of the art streaming service for combat sports promoters and sports organizations. Due to the pandemic, these sports properties have been looking for solutions to distribute their content as they struggle with putting on shows without an audience in attendance. After talking with many of these entities, the opportunity to take their product online is really the only choice to put on quality events during the Coronavirus lockdowns.

“We’ve been streaming live combat sports for years, so we already had an infrastructure in place to help companies deal with this new reality. We’ve been working on a pay platform for a while, similar to Netflix or ESPN+ but much more ambitious, and innovative, so we took a portion of the platform and repurposed it for pay per view,” said Armando Bareno founder of GSS.

The new platform will kick off on THIS SATURDAY,, September 5th with Toscano Boxing Promotions out of Stockton, CA. Toscano has taken its operation south of the border to manage the costs of setting up a bubble scenario in order to comply with the Tijuana commission guidelines. Toscano has been doing events in Stockton for the past couple of years, and had to cancel a sold-out event a week out from their fight night at the Stockton Memorial Civic Auditorium. Toscano is the perfect example of companies being affected by the lock-downs. They still wanted to do shows, but without a live gate, they need a solution to help them generate revenue. We were able to provide them with that opportunity in the form of pay per view.

GSS has since talked with over a dozen sports organizations and will be helping them broadcast their events live on globalsportsstreaming.com; bestinboxing.com; and gssstreaming.com. Those sites are all linked to the same paywall services. GSS has a full line up of Boxing, Muay Thai, MMA, and new to GSS basketball the remainder of 2020.

GSS has put together a great overall experience for the fans for every sports broadcast. We kick off every boxing Pay-Per-View with free preliminary bouts. Also as part of the kickoff show, there will be commentary from the GSS studio in Las Vegas. Emmy Award winner Courtney Perna anchors a new show "Before the Bell", featuring the live prelim fights mixed in with studio guests and previews., and the show will be simulcasted on Fight Hub TV and Abrams Boxing on YouTube. GSS has formed great partnerships with Fight Hub bringing live fights to their 850,000+ subscribers as well as Abrams Boxing PR Media and Broadcasting.. After the preliminary fights, the Pay Per View kicks off on globalsportsstreaming.com, as well as bestinboxing.com.

Tune in on Saturday night, September 5th, for the launch of GSS Pay Per View with Toscano Promotions live from the Historic Jai Alai Palace Forum Entertainment Center in Tijuana, Mexico. Pay-Per-View Tickets for the show are only $9.99. It's a great night of fight action from the opening bout to the main event.

In the main event, Angel Ramos will take on Jorge Villalobos in the eight-round flyweight main event.

The outstanding show be will be streamed live all over the world on bestinboxing.com

Fight Hub TV will live stream six to seven fights on their YouTube channel youtube.com/fighthub. Fight Hub TV has over 300,000 subscribers and is the largest independent boxing YouTube channel.

"This is a great partnership for Global Sports Streaming. Marcos Villegas has built a quality channel with a loyal following and we are honored to be working with his company." Armando Bareño founding member of Global Sports Streaming is on a mission to expand the sport of boxing and working with Fight Hub TV is only accelerating the process. "I've always felt that the sport of boxing does a disservice to itself by not broadcasting the developmental stages of a fighters career." Armando and his Global Sports Streaming team are working to broaden the viewership by broadcasting fights that are overlooked by television networks.

"I'm very happy in joining Global Sports Streaming and Borizteca Boxing in this venture. It's the perfect opportunity to provide live fights that provide knockouts to our core subscribers and fight fans via our platform. We look forward to this event and others that will see Fight Hub TV move into broadcasting live fights and events in 2018."

Marcos Villegas created Fight Hub TV in 2009 and since then has built Fight Hub into the largest and most subscribed to digital platform for boxing in the world and second biggest in all of combat sports. Boxing fans and combat sport fans have truly found Fight Hub TV to be a great source of information on their favorite fighters and events.

Fight Fans can watch the undercards on youtube.com/fighthub and change over to bestinboxing.com to watch the pay per view portion of the card. Exciting prospect Dewayne Beamon (13-0 10KOs) of Goldsboro, North Carolina will be fighting Angel Francisco Ramos Serrano (17-1-1 12KOs) of Ensenada, Mexico in the main event.

The pay per view platform is just step one for Global Sports Streaming as they are preparing to launch their own Netflix style sports streaming service in the second quarter of 2018. "This is an idea I've had in my head for years and it's finally in the process of being built. We will be expanding our sports coverage to an assortment of sports programming. We will be developing our own programming as well as working with sports producers to develop content for the platform," stated Armando.

Other fighters scheduled to appear on the broadcast are super featherweight Mario Ramirez (9-1, 3 KOs), super lightweight Armando Tovar (8-1, 6 KOs), super welterweight Kevin Torres (6-0-1, 5 KOs) and opening up the Pay-Per-View portion will be super featherweight Roberto Meza (8-1, 4 KOs)

Former Oakland Raider, Tony Hirsch looking to win IBU Middleweight title TONIGHT!!! against Rolando Paredes on GSS Inaugural “Best In Boxing” event

CLICK TO WATCH FIGHT CARD

Las Vegas, NV (August 28, 2015) -TONIGHT!!! it will be a special night of boxing when Global Sports Streaming (GSS) will present the first broadcast of a brand new sports streaming service and the premier edition of Best in Boxing (BIB)

The first broadcast TONIGHT, August 28, 2015 will feature the IBU Middleweight title bout between Tony Hirsch (18-6-2, 8 KO's) taking on Rolando Paredes (9-2-2, 8 KO's)

The entire 11 bout card, which is promoted by Borizteca Promotions, will stream live beginning at 10:30 PM ET on

YouTube and will feature the likes of popular female light flyweight Kenia Enriquez (13-1); lightweight Demond Brock (9-3) as well as undefeated prospects super featherweight Jesus Trujillo and Jorge Escalante (2-0)

Hirsch, who played cornerback for the Oakland Raiders will be looking to add the IBU Middleweight title to his trophy case as in his last bout, he won the WBC USNBC title when he won a 10-round majority decision over previously undefeated Wes Capper (9-0) on March 14.

"Training was good. It was like regular training camps. Nothing different."

Paredes is a bit of an unknown as there is not much footage on him, but that did not seem to faze Hirsch.

"All I know is that he has a good record and I did not watch any footage of him."

His football career prepared him for fights like this where he has to go into another man's hostile territory, but Hirsch again spoke confidently in saying, "I don't get concerned about that. I show up and compete and do my best every time. It doesn't matter the location."

Hirsch is eager at the opportunity to perform in front of a worldwide audience on GSS first live stream on YouTube.

"Anytime I fight, I am introduced to a new market with an opportunity to gain new fans, I am excited that I can grow my brand. That translates in to more money!!"

Hirsch is a natural athlete as he played for both the Raiders and the San Jose SaberCats of the Arena Football League.

"After playing for the Raiders, I picked up boxing just to work out. I decided I liked it and began training harder at it and the rest is history."

That led Hirsch to a brief amateur career where he went 6-1 and won the 2006 San Francisco Golden Gloves tournament.

"I am influenced by Sugar Ray Leonard and Roy Jones because of their styles and great work ethic. They were always ready to get into the ring and get it done. Before my fights, I am just ready to get into the ring and get it done.”
