As the second half of the fight commenced, Lopez stepped on the gas and started to hurt Campa in round six. In round seven, Lopez dropped Campa with a hard right that was followed by a left. Lopez started to emphatically beat Campa until the bout was stopped at 2:14.

Split-T Management Fighters Earn Four Wins on Friday Night

New York, NY (March 15, 2022)—Four members of the Split-T Management stable posted victories on Friday night.

Three of those victories came in Deadwood, South Dakota as Ardreal Holmes Jr. remained undefeated with a 10-round unanimous decision over Vernon Brown in a junior middleweight bout that headlined a SH0BOX: The New Generation card that was live on SHOWTIME.

Holmes used his 6'2" frame to box very well and land some hard straight left hands on the gritty Brown. Holmes was able to win by scores of 98-92, 97-93 and 96-94 to raise his mark to 12-0.

"I was reborn tonight," Holmes said. "This performance showed that I still have it in me. I hurt my left hand in the second round. I couldn't punch how I wanted to. I was in a bunch of pain but I pulled through. Thinking about my family pushed me through the pain.”

Holmes said no matter how much Brown hurt him, he was going to push through the pain. “I was rusty. I believe I need another fight to get the rust off. My timing wasn’t there. I’ve been off for like 800 days, but this fight showed that I have a lot of heart. I want Paul Kroll next. He was talking a lot of junk against me. We have a history in the amateurs. He’s who I want.”

Holmes is promoted by DiBella Entertainment and Holden Productions.

In the opening bout, Giovanni Marquez made a successful pro debut with a four-round unanimous decision over Nelson Morales in a welterweight bout.

Marquez displayed the boxing skills that propelled him to a National Golden Gloves title, as he boxed well and mixed some crisp power shots. Despite injuring his hand, Marquez looked like a seasoned veteran as was very composed in the ring.

Marquez of Houston, won by scores of 40-36 and 39-37 twice.

“I felt great,” said Marquez. “I hurt my left hand in the second round on a jab. I think I would have been able to stop him if I hadn’t hurt my hand.”

Added Giovanni: “It was a great experience. He was a tough, durable guy, but I feel like I handled everything, the cameras, all the attention pretty well. I started a little slow but after the first round I settled down and fought my fight. I felt fine without the headgear. We kept bumping heads, but he never hurt me. There was a lot of pressure on me, and I was a little nervous in the leadup to the fight, but once I got into the fight I relaxed and I felt comfortable. Overall, it was a great experience.”

FINAL QUOTES:

Ardreal Holmes

“The long layoff is due to the pandemic and just waiting for the right opportunity to come along. I was dealing with a lot of things at the time, deaths in the family, so part of it was getting myself mentally ready to take advantage of the opportunity when it came along.

"Flint Michigan is just a special place. Whenever you go out of town, people would say, 'What is it about Flint?' We'd say, 'There's something in the water.' We've been saying that for years. And then all that stuff happened (with the water being contaminated). It's just a beautiful, tough place, but it's still beautiful.

"I feel good for this fight. There's nothing that I'm not expecting. I'm tall so everyone's plan is to come forward and put pressure on me, but I'm expecting him to come forward and I plan on catching him on the way in.

"After being off for this long, I'm super excited for this opportunity. I just kept my head on straight and stayed positive and here we are. My son was a big motivation for me for this fight. And a guy I fought (and lost to) in the U.S. Olympic Trials, Paul Kroll, who I heard was talking about fighting me. He also motivated me.

"Every fight there's pressure, but I believe in myself, and I believe in my training, and I'm going to go out and do my best."

Vernon Brown

"Accepting the fight late wasn't a big deal. I'd already been training. I'm excited for this opportunity and I feel good.

"I've gone up and down in weight, my last fight was at 140, but I'm used to fighting big guys, so this is not a problem. I've fought a couple guys who were 6'2", so I'm ready. It's been a year since February since my last fight and I'm ready to get my feet back wet again. I feel strong.

"My best weight is 147. I can do a lot at 147. I can do 154. Fighting bigger guys isn't a problem, but 147 is my weight class. The contracted weight for this fight is 156 plus two, and that's fine with me, so I don't have to kill myself making weight.

"I'm just an aggressive fighter. My trainers want me to be aggressive and more technical and more defensive, but it's like the bell rings and I turn into a real different animal. I don't care how big you are, but I'm going to be smart for this fight. I don't want to get caught by anything stupid.

"I consider myself a Hagler type. I love to brawl. I can really punch. Everyone in Chicago knows about my power. They brag on me, 'Oh, you punch so hard.' But I'm also learning it's about conditioning and moving my head, and I know there's more than just being able to punch.

"Everyone knows my right-hook is dangerous. But I knocked out a couple southpaws taller than me with overhand lefts because they were focused on my right. I can switch but I'm not like a Terence Crawford, but I will do it just to throw a guy off."

Luis Acosta

"We are excited and ready to do the work. I'm not surprised at the success we've had. When you put in the hard work it shows in the end. I think our record shows that. We train hard all the time.

"I haven't had a lot of rounds, but that doesn't bother me. When we are sparring we go lots of rounds and bring in new, fresher guys while I'm staying in there the whole time. Eight rounds, 12 rounds. The conditioning is there, and the stamina. Whenever we end up going those rounds, the conditioning will show.

"I'm never worried about how hard I'm hitting a guy or trying to impress myself. I don't deal with that pressure where I gotta knock this guy out. It just comes. You know, in the [Darel] Harris fight it didn't come but I got my knockdowns and we did our work still.

"I'm going to keep doing what I've been doing. What we've been doing has been working for us. If I feel like I have to pace myself then I didn't train hard enough to be able to put in the same amount of work for each round. If I'm fighting a 12-round fight I'm going to throw the same amount of punches as I would throw if I was fighting less rounds. I'm ready.

"[De Los Santos] has the best record so in my mind he is the best I've ever faced so far. Just like all my other fights it doesn't matter who is in there across the ring from me I'm going to go in there and do my thing."

Edwin De Los Santos

"I know Luis Acosta is a tough opponent, just like all the other Mexicans that I have fought. I know he works hard in the ring, just like I do. I know he's also a very intelligent and skilled fighter.

"Physically I wasn't ready for my last fight [a loss on ShoBox]. The running on the treadmill instead of out in the streets and in nature affected me. The weather conditions were very cold at that time. The weight cut also affected me. I feel like now that I'm working out harder and smarter and not having to cut as much weight has helped me.

"I don't know which way this fight goes. It could be a knockout, or it could go the distance. It was a very bitter defeat I tasted in my last fight and so it's very important for my career that I can come back and get a win this time to take me to the next level."

Giovanni Márquez

"I ended up winning the National Golden Gloves which opened a lot of doors and opportunities. And here we are now. I never imagined I would make my debut on ShoBox. I'm looking forward to it and I'm just ready to go out there and perform.

"Some say there's a lot of pressure on me. Of course, there's pressure. Being my dad's son, there's always going to be pressure but I just use that pressure as motivation and it just gives me a feeling that I have to prove something. That's when I perform best.

"I always felt I had more of a pro-like style. In the amateurs, it's only three three-minute rounds. There's not too much time. There's a lot of guys that move, hold, throw little pitty-pat punches. Whereas I like to sit on my punches and look for openings. I think I'll be able to show my style more in the pros than I was in the amateurs because there's a little bit more time.

"I know that Morales will be hungry. This is a good opportunity for him. I'm definitely not taking him lightly. I'm looking to go out there and have a great first impression on the boxing world. This is a great opportunity to do that. I definitely want to win in spectacular fashion."

Nelson Morales

"Every boxer's dream is to fight on TV and get these kinds of opportunities. I come from a town where there's always been a lot of guys doing big things, and I've been working quietly. Now I have this big opportunity and I really want to take full advantage of it. I'm super excited especially to be on a platform like SHOWTIME. I never thought this would come.

"Márquez has a lot of amateur experience. His father was a world champion. I know he's been around these types of platforms. I don't expect him to be completely nervous where he won't be on his game. So I'm just expecting the best of Giovanni Marquez and I just have to do my thing. I expect him to be very confident. He's been around SHOWTIME and this is my first time on SHOWTIME. I have to do something big too.

"Right now, I manage myself. I'm self-managed and I do my own thing. I look for my own fights. I just want to do my thing and look good to the point where somebody is going to reach out to me and say, 'I want to work with you.'

"I just turned 30. I have to do something and if I'm going to do it, I have to do it now. I don't have the opportunity that he does. This might be my one shot. He's only (21). He has a lot of years to bounce back. I don't."
